72: Jessica Buhlmann / Meteosat (2019)

Jessica Buhlmann's installations and wall objects move between immanence and transcendence – they reveal what they once were, namely mere utilitarian material, manufactured to fulfill a practical purpose, and at the same time become what they are now: Shapes that, in their intrinsic value and in the play of their coloration and painterly gestures, can always signify new points of reference, beginning and end.

Jessica Buhlmann (*1977 in Potsdam) completed her studies in 2007 as a master student at the Universität der Künste Berlin. She lives and works in Berlin.
